ON SITE WORK

On-site work services are provided to meet project requirements that go beyond standard cabin sizes and transportation limits. This service ensures that larger or custom structures can be fabricated and installed directly at the project location with proper planning and execution. On-site work allows greater flexibility in design, accurate fitting, and efficient handling of large-scale constructions. It is an ideal solution for projects where size, layout, or site conditions require customized fabrication at location.

Container Offices

Our on-site work solutions are offered for projects that require larger structures or custom sizes which cannot be easily transported to the location. In such cases, fabrication, assembly, and installation are carried out directly at the customer's site to ensure proper fit, structural strength, and quality finishing. This method allows greater flexibility in design and is ideal for large commercial, industrial, or project-based requirements. The cost for on-site work may differ from standard pricing and depends on factors such as project location, total work duration, site conditions, and availability of resources. Additional considerations like labor accommodation, food arrangements, transportation, and local logistics are also included while finalizing the overall cost
